Pumping Stations Moving Lake Water To Conservation

The two largest pumping stations in the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District went into action Monday to transfer excess water from Lake Okeechobee to Conservation Areas in the Everglades.

Riles S. Miles, FCD Board Chairman, announced that the action is being taken as a result of a successful pumping test conducted in early August. At that time, four pumping stations were operated for 108 hours and succeeded in transferring 30,000 acre feet of water from the big Lake to the Conservation Areas.

The two stations going into service Monday are S-5A, located at Twenty Mile Bend on the West Palm Beach Canal, and S-8, located on the Miami Canal at the Palm Beach-Broward County line. These facilities were found to be the two most efficient stations in pumping water from Lake Okeechobee in the previous experiment.

At present the level of water in Lake Okeechobee is 13.7 feet above sea level. This is 7-10 of a foot above the official regulation stage. But the FCD will only attempt to pull the Lake down to a level of 13.5 f.e.t, according to Ed Dail, FCD Executive Director.

Dail said the Army Corps of Engineers has agreed to a minimum of 13.5 feet in view of present overall water conditions and regulation schedules which normally start rising in September.

"The main reason for pumping at this time is that the Lake has too much water and the Conservation Areas too little," Dail said.

The Army Corps of Engineers has been releasing 1,500 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Okeechobee out the Caloosahatchee River to the Gulf of Mexico in recent weeks. But the Corps halted the discharges Monday when the FCD began pumping.

In the previous pumping test, the District removed about 3-4 of an inch of water off the entire surface of Lake Okeechobee from August 2 through August 6. The job cost approximately 55 cents per acre foot.

Bud Remains Head Baptist College Fund Raising Job

Fred O. (Bud) Dickinson, Jr., named Comptroller of the state of Florida on August 25, will continue as chairman of the Baptist College fund-raising campaign.

In making the announcement, Dr. Jess Moody, chairman of the committee to raise $1,500,000 for the new college in Palm Beach Gardens, said Dickinson "has performed an outstanding service to the community in leading the campaign past the $500,000 mark."

"He has demonstrated outstanding business leadership in organizing and leading the campaign which we, of the College Committee, know will be put to good use as comptroller. We salute his appointment by Governor Burns."

The new comptroller said he appreciates the faith entrusted him by the College Committee. "We will continue until we get the job done," he said. "The new college is far too important to leave unfinished. I am confident that we will raise the $1,500,000."

Dr. Moody, in commenting about the success of the campaign, said, "To my knowledge the $500,000 represents one of the largest, if not the largest funds raised in the history of Palm Beach County."

The Florida Baptist Convention is already committed to contributing $1,100,000 for dormitories and other year's operating expenses. The $1,500,000 will go toward capital expenses.

Mrs. Bob Meyer and son, Butch of Hialeah accompanied her parents on a recent vacation spent at Sarasota Beach.

The corsages of both were of white carnations. Also present at the wedding were the two grandmothers of the bridegroom, Mrs. J. R. Miller, Sr., and Mrs. B. R. Rushing, both of Pahokee.

The reception following the ceremony was held on the church lawn. The table, laid with a lovely white hand embroidered cutwork cloth, was skirted with white organza with arrangements of baby breath, tiny white roses, white hibiscus and fern encircling the punch bowls.

Miss Donna Lee Collier presided at the bride's book. Miss Aleda Shackford, Miss Elizabeth Gist and Miss Janice Sullivan assisted with the serving of the guests at the table. New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to $2\frac{1}{4}\%$ for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed 4% each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra $\frac{1}{4}\%$ from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic $\frac{1}{4}\%$ increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you want automatically deducted every payday. The Bonds you buy by installments are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—money for military strength and for science. And money saved by individuals helps keep our economy sound.

YOU SAVE MORE THAN MONEY WITH U. S. SAVINGS BONDS

On Sunday, September 12, from 2:00 to 6:00 p. m. citizens of the Glades area will have a chance to inspect their new hospital in Pahokee. Open house will be held during those hours, and all citizens are invited to come out and visit the new Everglades Memorial Hospital.

Located on Barfield Highway in Pahokee, the new hospital is now complete in every detail except for installation of the incinerator. When it is installed, which should be within the next few days, the hospital is ready to begin patient service. The hookup with the new sewer system is complete, and while there is no definite date set yet for moving into the new facility, it will be in the very near future.

At the open house there will be sufficient personnel from the hospital board, the medical staff, technicians and members of the hospital auxiliary to answer any questions visitors may have and to explain the operation of the new equipment. Much of the equipment is new to the area and all of it is the most modern available. The hospital board and staff take a great deal of pride in being able to present to the public this modern hospital facility.

No ceremony is planned for the open house. There will be no speeches and no tiresome program.

Visitors will be free to browse through the entire hospital asking any questions they may have and inspecting every facet of the building and equipment.

Hospital personnel will be located at all pieces of equipment and strategic spots to answer any questions asked or to explain anything the visitors may want explained. The entire procedure will be completely informal. Refreshments will be served in the dining room during the time of the open house.

The open house and the opening of the new hospital is the culmination of more than two years work on the part of many people. The original ground-work was laid out by the board and members of the board of freeholders on the bond issue which was held on May 28, 1963.

An unprecedented majority of 728-17 voted for the bond issue to build the new hospital. With this mandate from the people of the district, the board ordered full steam ahead in the building of the new hospital. A new and larger site was selected on Barfield Highway, and actual construction was started on April 6, 1964.

By February 6, 1965 the building had progressed to the point where it was ready for the formal laying of the cornerstone. This ceremony was held on February 6 under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge, Grand Lodge of Florida.

At the time of the cornerstone laying, the building was estimated to be 60% complete. From that time until July 13, 1965, the building was completed and on the latter date inspection was made by Federal and State authorities.

The building was accepted and approved by these authorities pending completion of the sewer connection, the incinerator and a few minor items. Now these have all been completed in accordance with Federal and State specifications except the installation of the incinerator which will be completed within a few days.

It is expected that by the time of the open house everything will be complete and the hospital can move soon thereafter from the old site on East Main to the new building. In less than two and one-half years from the time the freeholders gave the "go" signal by approving the $800,000 bond issue, the new hospital will be accepting patients and treating them in its completely modern facility.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with

Auxiliary Work—

A communication from local garden clubs stated that club members are so deeply involved in the current landscaping project for the new hospital grounds that they would like to be relieved of their traditional work of making tray favors for hospital patients on holidays and other special occasions. Mrs. Sharon Richardson, Mrs. Alice Ramey and Mrs. Maude Cross volunteered to serve on a committee of three to be in charge of this project in the future.

J. C. Simonds, Jr., hospital administrator, spoke to the group briefly of the open house for the new hospital building to be held Sunday, Sept. 12, from 2 to 6 p. m. He said several of the hospital's department heads would be present to explain the institution's many services, and he asked members of the auxiliary to assist at the open house by manning stations and serving as guides, as needed. Members are to attend the open house in the full auxiliary uniform, arriving at 1:30 p. m., when they will be given their various assignments by Mrs. Alys Okie, member of the hospital board.

Members were urged to register for on-duty service at the hospital, two each for afternoons from 1 to 4 o'clock and for evenings from 7 to 8:30, completing a work schedule for the coming six months.

Both Mr. Simonds and Mrs. Maxson expressed their gratitude to members for the interest they have shown in the auxiliary since it was organized a year ago and the splendid work that has been achieved by the group in that short period of time. It was announced the next meeting will be held in the dining room of the new hospital building, Sept. 23.

At the close of the meeting refreshments of coffee and cookies were served in the hospital kitchen, following which those who were able to stay for a work day assisted with the hanging of the 63 finished drapes for hospital windows.
